Summary of reasons for decision:

The image file shows a close-up of a young girl displaying her genitals to the camera in a sexually inviting manner. It is deemed objectionable because it promotes and supports the exploitation of children for sexual purposes. The image presents young girls as sexually aware and as appropriate subjects for adult sexual attention and is clearly intended to be sexually arousing to people with a prurient interest in girls. The image encourages and legitimises such an interest. As a digital file it can be shared widely among like-minded individuals and may also be used for grooming other children for sexual abuse. The Classification Office has considered the effects of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 on the application of the classification criteria. The classification of this publication interferes with the right to freedom of expression, but this is an outcome that is consistent with Parliament's intention that publications that promote and support the exploitation of children for sexual purposes be deemed objectionable. It also reflects the concern of a free and democratic society to protect its young and vulnerable members from exploitation and harm.
